With the advent of computers in today's world some task that can be moved to computers are still done by hand. One of these is in small hotels where room charts at hotel and some activities are still done by using a database driven webpage using MySQL and PHP. Doing these tasks by hand one encounters problems such as confusion over being unable to determine another's handwriting.